Changes from category B (Beginners) to category A (Advanced)

It's basically possible that a person, without experience in the beginner category B, can start in the category A for advanced fighters, at the tournaments. But the condition is, that the battlesome abilities for this category exist.

The rise from the beginner category B to the category A for advanced is basically necessary, if a fighter has participated for maximum two years in the beginner category B. Exceptions are just thinkable in special cases. For example if someone has just participated in two until three tournaments during the two years and there aren't the necessary abilities for the advanced category A. Because of such a combination the participation in the beginner category B is possible for one more year. For this exception the acceptance of the two sport chiefs is needed.

Changes in weight classes

The following weight classes are valid for the whole season. No changes will be made during the year.

Supplement:

The tournament management reserve the right to insert some weight categories with their fighters into next higher or lower categories, if this should be necessary. The trainers and coaches have to check the weight of their fighters before the registration. The tolerance on the weight-in day is 0,5 kg. Transcription with a variation until 3 kg costs 10.-. If there should be higher a variation than 3kg, the full registration fee of 30.- will be charged additional.
